Exhibition by F.D. Department

K.M.S. College of IT and Management, known for its commitment to holistic education and skill development, once again demonstrated its dedication to nurturing talent and promoting creativity among its students. The college, situated in the serene environs of Chaudhary Banta Singh Colony in Dasuya, organized a grand exhibition on December 18th, showcasing the artistic prowess of its students.

Under the visionary leadership of Principal Dr. Shabnam Kaur and the relentless efforts of the faculty, particularly the Fashion Designing Department led by Manjula Saini, the exhibition became a testament to the creative potential thriving within the college premises.

The exhibition featured an eclectic array of handcrafted items meticulously prepared by the students. From intricately embroidered shawls to elegantly designed fabric bags, each item bore the mark of creativity and craftsmanship. The students poured their hearts into every piece, reflecting their passion for design and their dedication to excellence.

Dr. Shabnam Kaur, in her address to the audience, underscored the importance of empowering women and encouraging students to explore their talents beyond academics. She lauded the efforts of the students, particularly those from the Fashion Designing Department, highlighting the vast array of employment opportunities awaiting them in the fashion industry.

Looking ahead, the college aims to continue providing platforms for students to showcase their talents and innovations. Dr. Shabnam Kaur instructed the department heads to organize similar exhibitions in the future, thereby fostering a culture of creativity and innovation among the student community.

The exhibition was attended by various dignitaries, including Director Dr. Manav Saini, HOD Dr. Rajesh Kumar, faculty members, and enthusiastic students. Their presence and support added to the vibrancy of the event, making it a resounding success.

As the college continues to strive for excellence in education and holistic development, events like these serve as a testament to its commitment to nurturing talent and promoting creativity among its students.
